

Photography Description

The following are the two photography collections that I have chosen to submit from my personal projects that I have been working on.

Chromatic Rebellion

This is a visual manifesto of color erupting where it “shouldn’t.” In alleyways, on crumbling walls, beneath overpasses and behind forgotten corners, graffiti and street art bloom like wildflowers through concrete. This collection consists of Blooming, Becoming, Beyond the elements, City, Mùthùngu in Art, Resistance and S.H.E. They capture the defiant beauty of pigment in unexpected places, a rebellion not just against grayness, but against silence. I wanted to capture Berlin's uniqueness in form of memory, protest, and celebration layered with the voices of many cultures claiming space, telling stories, and refusing to be erased.

Echoes in Motion

This is a celebration of the human spirit in performance captured mid-song, mid-dance, mid-roar. These photographs- Enjoyment, Bugman and Powerjoyment- document the fleeting moments when people become more than themselves: when movement, sound, and emotion collide in public ritual. From intimate gestures to explosive energy, each image is a trace of joy, vulnerability, and connection which become echoes that linger long after the lights fade.